

Shawn Thomas

CHRISTIAN RECORDING ARTIST

The Ministry of Aaron's Revival Project (ARP)

Shawn Aaron Thomas is a Contemporary Christian singer/songwriter and worship leader based in South Carolina. As a "CCM" artist (Contemporary Christian Music), many of Thomas' original works are included in the CCLI (Christian Copyright Licensing International) Library.

Shawn lives in Upstate South Carolina with his husband of 15 years, and currently serves in ministry at Seneca Presbyterian Church as the Director of Music and Communications.

In early 2022, Shawn launched a new ministry called "Worship-Together.com." Worship Together is a social media feed and online community of faith created to be an alternative to traditional social media platforms avoiding advertising and post manipulation. Featured content includes weekly "worship breaks," a "Good News" broadcast, as well as concerts and online events. This virtual space encourages believers to get to know each other and support each other as brothers and sisters in Christ, and most importantly, to share in worship together.

He is also the owner/operator of Shawn Thomas Studios, providing audio recording, production, and mastering services to independent artists, songwriters, and bands. He participated as a voting "Grammy" member of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences from 2009-2015, and is a producer for Christian Music Industry worship track providers such as "Worship Backing Band" and "Loop Community."

Over the past 20 years, Shawn's ministry has received critical recognition from OutMusic, The Stonewall Society, RightOutTV, and QNation. In addition, his service to the community has been acknowledged by The Reformed Catholic Church of the United States, The State of Arkansas Ambassador of Good Will Program, Long Beach Pride in California, and various independent and denominational congregations.

Fun facts:

Shawn has self-published two books, is a comic book enthusiast, and is a preacher's kid!
